The Changing Politics of Central Banking

Annelise Riles
Cornell University
Social Studies of Financial Expertise

- Finance as a domain of expertise (legal, economic, financial, technocratic, etc) and its failures
日本の取り戻す。
Central banking as “apolitical”

- Politicians have short time horizons; insulated experts have long time horizons
- Monetary policy and financial regulation are sciences, not political activities

Alesina & Summers 1993
Political Effects